

Discovery Gateway Children's Museum Opens

New Ruby Snap Cookie Shop Exhibit

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Dec. 06, 2022

Discovery Gateway Children's Museum will open a simulated RubySnap Cookie Shop on December 17 in their gallery Kid's Eye View. The popular exhibit area known for educating children through play and socialization shrinks well-known brands like Macey's, First Utah Bank, or Mark Miller Subaru down with pint-sized storefronts through kid's sized exhibits. Children get to play pretend with realistic props and settings and learn about being a grownup in a fun setting.

The upcoming RubySnap exhibit will feature a new storefront where children can pretend to bake, buy, and sell replicas of RubySnap gourmet cookies. RubySnap Founder and CEO, Tami Steggell, was an architect before shifting careers to create Salt Lake City's iconic company and was an integral part of the design process. The installation captures the retro-chic style of the storefront on 3rd West and will inspire a new generation of creative bakers.
